

Somers Town Community Newsletter

A road map is now before us and there is at last a growing light at the end of a very long 12 months; yet as we approach the possibility of things finally returning to normal we must ensure that the inequalities of the world pre-COVID 19 do not walk into the light.

As a community we must celebrate our diversity, unite against the challenges ahead, share our successes, open our minds to new solutions and inspire others through friendship and generosity.

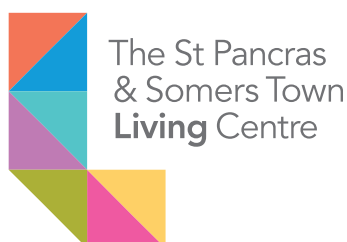

If we are able to do this then the scale of loss and bereavement will perhaps one day be a little bearable.

The teams at the Living Centre, Somers Town Community Association, Global Generation, Little Village, Urban Community Projects, Make@StoryGarden, Blind Aid, Visually Impaired Camden and many others are here to help, you are not alone if you need help please reach out.

"Kids wake up each day believing in the goodness of things, in the magic of what might be. They're uncynical, believers at their core. We owe it to them to stay strong and keep working to create a more fair and humane world."

About World Book Day

World Book Day 4th March 2021 aims to change lives by promoting a love of books and shared reading. The aim of the day is to promote reading for pleasure, offering every child and young person the opportunity to have a book of their own as reading for pleasure is one of the biggest indicators of a child's future success. Our libraries have also arranged a series of virtual story telling sessions where children go on a virtual journey with a story teller <https://www.camden.gov.uk/childrens-activities-suggestions>

The 2021 census is coming – 21st March 2021

The census is a once in a decade survey that gives the Office for National Statistics (ONS) information about households and people in England and Wales.

Everyone is expected to take part – even if you are a citizen of another country. Census 2021 will include questions about your sex, age, work, health, education, household size and ethnicity. There will be new voluntary questions for those aged 16 and over on sexual orientation and gender identity.

Census Day is on Sunday 21st March, but you can complete your census questionnaire as soon as you get your letter and access code in the post. Information provided needs to be about who usually lives in the household – adults and children, including babies. The census will mostly be completed online. Paper questionnaires will still be available upon request.

How information is used

Information collected in the census helps councils like Camden, central Government, the NHS, charities and other organisations to plan services such as housing, education, health and transport for years to come. It builds up a picture of our communities from very small areas, to regions and the country as a whole.

Census data is available for everyone to use, from creating business plans to charity funding bids. Information collected is only used for statistical purposes. No individual household or person can be identified.

Introducing the Health and Wellbeing Development Team

The Living Centre now has a team dedicated to promoting the Health and Wellbeing of our local Black, Asian Minority Ethnic Communities (BAME). This team is also very committed to advancing the mission of The Living Centre to reverse the longstanding inequalities in our current health care system.

During the current situation of the COVID-19 pandemic, our team is focusing on collaborating with the partners of the Living Centre, the community and faith leaders and the scientist from the Francis Crick Institute to bring the best possible advice and support to our local BAME communities.
